

The 166th TAOYAKA Program Seminar

Compensation: Hope at the Intersections of the Moral and the Economic

Dr. Hirokazu MIYAZAKI

Professor of Anthropology, Northwestern University, USA
Professor (Special Appointment),
Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences, Hiroshima University

July

31 Friday

13:00-15:00

Online Seminar
(Microsoft Teams)

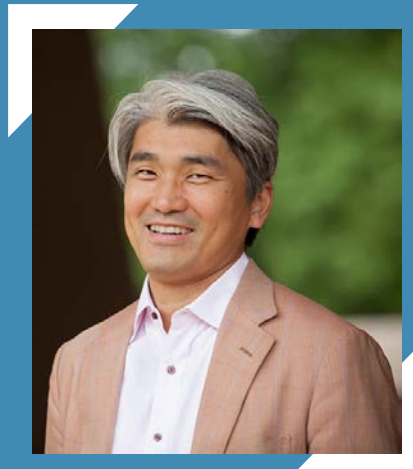

Photo: Cited from Cornell University website

In this lecture, I investigate hope and futurity at stake in several different cases of compensation claims from an indigenous Fijian land claim to damage compensation claims related to the 2011 nuclear power plant accident in Fukushima. The goal of this investigation is to reconsider gifts and commodities as competing or complimentary models of compensation.

OPEN TO ALL

Language: English

Pre-registration is required :
Send your email address to the contact below

Contact : Prof. Koki SEKI, Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences,
Hiroshima University
Email: seki@hiroshima-u.ac.jp

Contact : Taoyaka Program Office, Hiroshima University
Email: taoyaka-program@office.hiroshima-u.ac.jp